University Buys Land For Its Forrestal Center From Princeton Nurseries

Princeton University has acquired all but 56 acres of Princeton Nurseries' lands to add to its existing Forrestal Center. Some 488 acres on the Princeton side of Route 1 will be developed over time in a mix of office and residential use, according to Eugene Biddle, director of marketing for the Forrestal Center.

The subject of lengthy negotiations between the Flemer family and University officials, the sale agreement was concluded in December. The price was not disclosed. Four generations of Flemers have been farming Princeton Nurseries since the first tracts were purchased here shortly before World War I.

Some 56 acres will be retained by the nurseries, including the main offices, propagation shed and shipping operation. William Flemer III calls this the "heart of the peration" and says Princeton Nurseries will continue to operate although on a different basis. The nurseries will rent land back from the university until such time as different parcels are ready to be developed.

"We will be decreasing production here, and increasing it in Allentown," Mr. Flemer says. "We will plant shorter term crops here, and longer term there." Under the agreement, the University paid a certain amount at the time of the closing and will pay the remainder over a period of time.

It is believed that the need to raise cash to pay state and lederal estate taxes occasioned by the premature death of Mr. Flemer's brother John four years ago was the primary reason that Princeton Nurseries decided to sell its prime asset.

Although acknowledging that he and all those involved in the Princeton Nurseries

The Deal of the De Another Princeton University Student Victim of Aggravated Sexual Assault

A 20-year-old Princeton University junior was the victim of an aggravated sexual assault early Sunday evening when she was accosted on campus on Ivy Lane near Roper Lane.

She is the third university student to be assaulted in the last three months. A 21-year-old student was attacked and beaten by a knife-wielding assailant on Madison Street New Year's Eve and a 19-year-old student was assaulted and beaten last October 25 on University Place.

In the wake of these sexual assaults and eight other assaults against university students since September, Jerrold L. Witsil, the University's Department of Public Safety director, announced an open forum to share concerns and exchange information for students, faculty and employees. It was scheduled to be held this week in Dodds Auditorium in the Woodrow Wilson School Building.

The most recent attack took place after the victim had left Peyton Hall on campus and was walking along Ivy Lane toward Roper Lane. Township Capt. Jack Petrone reported the victim had intended to go up Roper to Prospect Avenue but when she reached the intersection of the two lanes she was accosted by a white male armed with

Deer Problem Grows Worse in Township; Homeowners Turn to Committee for Help

The Deer Problem is back in juries and damage to the news.

At Township Committee last week, Mayor Gail Firestone read a petition signed by 24 residents in the Finley-Pheasant Hill Road area stating that the township "has the responsibility to redress the balance between flora and fauna" and asking Mayor and Committee to initiate a "meaningful effective program to reduce the deer population in the township."

Harold A. Huckins, author of the letter to Township Committee that accompanied the petition, pointed out that deer have no known natural predators in the area. Their population is being controlled solely by starvation, car accidents and to some extent by bow and arrow. "This would seem to be a cruel and inhumane way to reduce expansion of the herd, besides human invehicles.'

Mr. Huckins went on to describe the "increasingly aggressive" way deer come up to individual houses to eat shrubs and gardens in any season, complaining that gardening "no longer can be effectively practiced in our part of the township."

He wrote, too, of the high cost of fencing, which is not effective unless it encloses the entire lot, including the driveway. "In our opinion, homeowners should not be forced into this kind of expense when there are other solutions," he stated, adding: "I am not sure that the township fully understands the extent of the problem in our area."

The Deer Problem will come up Thursday night, when the Environmental Commission has asked Dona Schneider to present a report on deer man-

ETS Answers Objections To Its Construction Plans

David Brodsky, executive vice president of Educational Testing Service (ETS), has written a letter to Joyce Copleman, chairman of the Lawrence Township Planning Board, responding to concerns over ETS' proposed expansion. These concerns were expressed to the Lawrence Board by Township Mayor Gail Firestone, Borough Mayor Barbara Sigmund and Environmental Commission Chairman Peggy McNeil.

"Unfortunately," Mr. Brodsky writes, "there are some misunderstandings and errors in that letter that could have been corrected if Princeton officials had contacted us beforehand." Specifically, he says that ETS has offered to pay a proportionate share of road improvements to two in-

According to Mr. Biddle, Princeton Forrestal Center will request a change in zoning for the tract, which is currently zoned for three million square feet of office space. The request will be made to the Plainsboro Planning Board, which could then forward a recommendation to the Plainsboro Township Committee for the necessary

In keeping with the mixed use policy of the rest of the center, Forrestal Center will request a downzoning to two million feet of office space and 220 residential units. As the Township continues to subdivide in the western section, with 1-3 acre lots, this is perfect for deer.

The survey of 246 Township residents commissioned by the 1983 ad hoc deer committee revealed that even though 83 percent were aware of the deer problem, less than 50 percent favored hunting as a means of reducing the herd. A number of non-hunting alternatives were proposed, and all have been considered or attempted.

Insurance Bill Approved

The state Assembly has approved insurance reform legislation and has sent the bill back to the Senate. The measure passed 42-31 in the lower house, with most Republicans backing it and Democrats opposing it.

A key provision of the legislation would set a limit on the right of accident victims to sue for pain and suffering. Such suits, under the bill, would be allowed only for cases involving death, disfigurement, or major loss of bodily function.

Democrats contend the provision would limit the rights of accident victims while providing no guarantee of reduced premiums. Unless there is an overall compromise between Democrats and Republicans, the measure's chances in the Democrat-controlled Senate appear poor.

Kean Signs JUA Ballout

Gov. Thomas II. Kean has signed a bill aimed at hailing out the deficit-plagued Joint Underwriting Association (JUA). The JUA, which provides insurance to accident-prone drivers who can't purchase coverage through ordinary means, has accumulated a $900-million deficit in its three years of ex-

Credit Cards for License Fees?

A state panel is studying a plan that would allow New Jersey motorists to use credit cards to pay driver's license and registration fees.

Attorney General W. Cary Edwards said the panel should have preliminary recommendations on the idea within about six months. He edded that it was possible that the public might be able to use credit cards for these purposes within approximately two years.

Kean: Yes to Gas Tax Increase

Gov. Thomas Kean has given his blessing to a five-cent increase in the state gosolioe tax to linance highway and mass transit programs. Ite said he will actively lobby the Legislature to back this tripling of the tax, providing that the additional revenues are used directly to pay for road and bridge reconstruction and repairs.

Radon Survey Begun

During the next few months, the State Department of Environmental Protection may be knocking at your door to place a carbon canister for measuring radon inside your home.

Employees of Camp, Dresser & McKee, the environmental engineering firm that holds the $1.3 million state contract for the survey, will place the canisters in about 6,000 homes and other occupied structures throughout the state. Locations for the canisters will be chosen on the basis of a grid map. No requests by homeowners to have their house included in the survey can be honored.

On the other hand, participation is purely voluntary; no one is required to take part, and there is no charge for doing so. Those whose homes are measured for radon will receive a confidential report of the results in about two months.

Persons who go to houses seeking permission to place canisters will carry DEP indentification, which includes their photographs, and they will deliver a letter explaining the program.

and bands will be encouraged.

The Department's first goal is to receive the blessings of Borough Council and Township Committee, said Mr. Freda. In the discussion before Township Committee, Committeewoman Phyllis Marchand suggested that the May 2 date would be too close to the date of Communiversity, the town-wide annual event sponsored by the Arts Council. She wondered whether the community could support two such events within weeks of each other.

Princeton Medical Group Buys ORC Headquarters

The Princeton Medical Group has purchased the Opinion Research Corporation (ORC) headquarters building, on North Harrison Street and Terhune Road, for $4.18 million.

The purchase was made under the name of Health Horizons, which is a group formed by 17 Princeton Medical Group physicians to handle the transaction.

Dr. Fong Wei, Princeton Medical Group president and managing director, said the group will move in as soon as ORC moves out. He added there were incentives for ORC to leave the 50,000-square-foot building before two years are up, although the sale does not set a limit on when the firm must vacate.

The medical group currently occupies 14,000 square feet of space on Witherspoon Street, leased from Princeton Medical Center. Dr. Wei said the physicians will need 20,000 to 25,000 square feet of space two years hence, and want a facility they can expand into. He added, however, that this would still leave about half the space in the building for someone else to occupy, at least at that time.

Dr. Wei said significant renovations would be necesary to convert the ORC headquarters into medical practice space. He noted that the disadvantage of the new location is that physicians will be a greater distance from their hospitalized patients.

However, he said there would also be an advantage in the move from Witherspoon Street.

"The hospital is growing, becoming more congested," he said. "The problem is having Squibb Application. Meanwhile, the Board will consider the application of Squibb Corporation for preliminary site plan approval and o conditional use variance to construct three new buildings, on Wednesday, January 28. The application has been scheduled for 9:40.

Squihb wants to add 244,000 square feet of medical research space to its present 725,000square-foot campus on Route 206 between Province Line and Carter roads. Plans call for parking for 374 cars.

Nearby, the proposal by S.T. Peterson to build a 65,000-square-foot office huilding at the corner of Carter and Elm Ridge roads awaits a hearing in the New Jersey Superior Court. The contractor/developer appealed the Hopewell Township Zoning Board's denial in December, 1985, of the necessary varinnee to erect an office building in a residential zone in which 100 acres are required for offices as a conditional use.

At issue also is the constitutionality of that zoning requirement, which the developer contends was changed from 50acre minimum while the application was pending. Judge Paul Levy has granted a twomonth extension for the filing of briefs by the developer, because the company's attorney, Tom Farino, was injured in a recent helicopter crash. To the Editar of Town Topics: I read your January 7 article regarding the Route 518 bridge with great interest.

I happen to be one of those unfortunate people who must now take Route 27 south through Kingston and Princeton into Lawrenceville now that the Route 518 bridge is closed.

Your article mentioned "the closing led to some horrendous traffic tie-ups on Route 27, but these appear to have eased somewhat since two new traf-fic lights were installed." I assume the person who wrote this article does not frequent Kingston during rush hour. This little town is nothing but gridlock when I trevel through - morning and night time. Route 27 southbound is backed up most mornings to the former Franklin Bank. There must be little or no communication among town leaders when a situation such os this develops. The Herrison Street bridge is closed; the Route 518 bridge is closed and during November and early December Route 206 was being resurfaced.

The tie-ups are unbelievable but every day I pick up a local newspaper I read where new housing developments are going up but I read nothing about improvements to the road systems in our area. Furthermore, I read at the recent hearings on S-92 that the contiguous townships cannot even reach an agreement on its alignment.

I'm sure most of us would love our area to romaio "rural" planners cannot continue approving the building of more houses, etc. and do nothing with expect at all times. the road system.

Partisauship Is Charged In Township Appointments

To the Editor of Town Topics:
As a resident of the Township, I was interested and disturbed by the inconsistencies between the news items in TOWN TOPICS of January 7 and the Mayor's letter to the Editor — headlined "Political Grondstanding Charged by Firestone" in that same issue of the paper. In my judgment it reflects a degree of narrow partisanship which exceeds that in the more highly politically charged corridors on Capitol Hill and is out of place in a small municipal communi-

Your news columns state that "of 22 appointees, only two could be called 'new' apand that Mrs. Milchell charged that in making the appointments, the Republican majority had not acted on any of the suggestions of the Democrats. Additionally, TOWN TOPICS reported that the Mayor had dismissed David Blair and Ramona Huff, both Democrats, and was on the verge of dismissing Martha Hartman, another Democrat, except that Mrs. Hartman's term evidently had another year to run.

The Mayor, in her letter, says she finds it "especially amusing that newly elected Township committee members, who based their campaign on bringing two party government back would then or ticize the ma or by party for not reapponis ever a tve Deno ווא שני און און און און

Tenslons Will Rise If Joan Hill Is Flred,

To the Editor, Town Topics: It's not at all unusual for someone to act out of character in a highly stressful situation. I think that would be particularly understandable if one were apprehended by the police.

I've known Joan Hill for a number of years in a professional capacity not related to civil rights, and I've found her fair-minded and reasonable in aituations where others were not.

The police, too, flnd themselves in highly stressful altuations in the course of their difficult jobs. At times there are demands for a policeman's resignation because of the way a aituation has been handled. The police are under-standably upset and angered over auch demands

Those of us who are not ordinarily involved in these difficult situations, especially our public officials, have a responsibility to deescalate tensions and work for reconcillation. Firing Ms. Hill and/or closing the Civil Hights office make no sense to me, and would only add to racial and ethnic tensions in Princeton.

We need to work for peaceful solutions in our own community If we want pence in our world.

some appointments" and that 'the political grandstanding which took place at the New Year's Doy meeting, a time of family involvement and a traditional show of good will, was unfortunate as well os inaccurate.

I would submit that good will is something we should be able but that cannot be. The town to count on during the entire year; and that accuracy is what we also should be able to

> The Mayor herself does not provide the degree of accuracy she herself calls for. First of all the Democrats now make up 40% of the membership of Township Committee and should have some voice in the Committee's decisions. Mrs. Mitchell's statements, which we have no reason to question, would suggest that the Democrats' proposals were given no consideration. Even Washington politicians have learned to do better than that, especially when it is clear that in the November elections the Democrats garnered the majority of all the Township votes.

Additionally, as to the matter of rotation and widening the involvement of the members of the community in Township affairs, I am certain that all of us could endorse that proposition. However, the newspaper's report on the actual appointments would suggest that those considerations did not motivate the decisions of the Republican majority

Not only is there no reported dismissal of a prominent Republican; but one Edgar Madsen, whom I do not know and against whom I have absolutely no ill feelings, is given two major appointments - one on the Zoning Board and the

Township Appointments Are Now a Spoils System

To the Editor of Town Topics: In her recent letter defending her appointments to Township positions on local boards and commissions, Mayor Firestone says, "We have many talented people, Republican, Democrat and independent alike who erve or Princeton Township s boards and min sons Yet t Happing Jack Shiethar the (600) 8240494

In tapping that pool of talent in her recent appointments, she certainly asserted that right! The net result for all of the boards and commissions (for the available positions, most positions are filled for multipleyear terma) was plus one Independent, plus one Repub-llcan, and minus four Democrata.

Not counted in the above totals are the appointments to the recently formed Housing Board which came into being with the affordable housing ordinance. Those appointments were three Republicans, one Independent and one not regis- system.

The talent pool, or the selec-singularly skewed in the case of the two boards that most strongly influence the future of the Township. The Princeton Regional Planning Board has seven Township members, all of them Republican. The Zoning Board of Adjustment has membera: Republicans and two Independents (the lone Democrat was replaced by a Republican on New Year's Day).

The mayor's assertion of her party's "right to make some appointments" appears to be quite vigorously asserted, perhaps even approaching a spoils

Following is my letter to then-mayor Pike:

Tam not enough of a civil engineer, in spite of my P.E. license, to know whether the following suggestion makes economic or engineering sense, but it seems to make obvious common sense.

Instead of building another Harrison Street bridge across Carnegie Lake that treats it as though it was a major tributary of the Delaware, why not recognize that it is only a dammedup brook, and cover 80 or 90 percent of the distance with an would affect anyone substantively, you could cover it all with an earthen causeway, and out of the canal. just put a good-sized culvert in where the brook can run through.

Signs in Parking Lot Confusing

To the Editor of Town Topics:

For years these two traffic signs on the same post have intrigued me. The "wonder" is located at the entrance to the Tulane-Spring Street parking lot, coming from Witherspoon.

I've wondered what was in the mind of the person who ordered the signs? I've wondered who did it? Or is this a longtime joke? One point is certain - you're looking at a twoway street.

Perhaps others of your readers have been similarly intrigued — perhaps some may even have some answers. For an enlightened 1987.

SANDY DETWILEH

Editor's Note: The "Do Not Enter" sign applies to the lane facing cars entering from Witherspoon Street, not to the lot itself, according to Barough Engineer Carl Peters.

The speed limit sign was placed several years ago, when the state Department of Transportation told the Borough it must place such signs in all its parking lots. The speed limit regulation was placed on the same post as the earlier sign because of space limitations in the lot, said Mr. Peters.

Princeton University's Plasma Physics Laboratory (PPL) has been designated as the site for the next phase in achieving fusion energy. President Reagan's 1988 budget, which was submitted to Congress on January 5, proposes initial funding for the design and construction of a Compact Ignition Tokamak (CIT) at the PPL.

Last June, a national design team, lead by PPL, proposed that the $357 million CIT device should be the next step in the development of magnetic fusion eoergy as an inexhaustible, safe and environmentally acceptable means of generating electricity. This project, if approved by Congress, would be funded by the U.S. Department of Energy.

"We are encouraged by the strong leadership of Secretory

Herriogton and the Department of Energy in moving for-ward with this important CIT project," noted Prioceton University President William Bowen," and we are very pleased that Princeton will be the site of the new device. We appreciate the excellent work of the CIT national design team, and we look forward to working together to bring the CIT into operation as soon as possible.

The Administration's 1988 budget calls for $8 million in design and construction funding and another $8 million in research and development support for CIT. Design and construction would occur over six years, with experiments scheduled to begin in 1993. The $357 million CIT construction east estimate rellects appreciable cost savings made possible by the extensive reuse of existing PPL facilities

Princeton's fusion program began in 1951. For the past 16 years it has focused on tokamak devices, in which a superheated gas, called a plasma, is confined by a strong magnetic field in a doughnut-shaped vacuum chamber. At plasme temperatures exceeding 100 million degrees centigrade, fusion reactions convert mass to energy and thereby provide a potential source of useful power for generating electricity.

Princeton's Tokamak Fusion Test Reactor (TFTH), one of the world'a largest fusion re-search devices, has reached several major milestones, incloding last aummer's attainment of a world-record plasma temperature of 230 million degrees centrigrade. TFTR's primary objective is "scientific breakeven," at which the fusion power produced by the plasmo equals the auxiliary heating power required to maintain the plasma at reactor temperatures

The objective of the CIT will be to demonstrate an "ignited" plosma, which will keep itself hat during pulses lasting a few seconds, without need for auxiliary heating.

Only shout one-half the size of TFTII, the CIT device is expected to generate about ten times the fusion power because of various improvements in confinement technique. Roth TFTIt and CIT are designed to use small quantities of plasma fuel consisting of a mixture of deuterium and tritium, the fuel likely to be used in commercial fusion reactors. The CIT device will fit into available space within the existing TFTR complex, and will be able to make use of TFTH power supplies. computers and other support

As the world's first ignited fusign experiment, and the first major initiative in U.S. toroidal fusion research since approval of the TFTR in 1985, CIT will help to maintain U.S. technological leadership in this energy field, while serving as a bridge between the experimental operation of the current generation of me jor tokamaks in the U.S., Europe, Japan and the U.S.S.R. and the construction, probably on an international basis, of a large-scale Engineering Test Reactor to be operated at a new site about the

New Headmaster Named For The Chapin School

Chapin School trustees have named Nathaniel W. Peirce as the school's 11th headmaster.

Mr. Peirce is currently head of the middle achool at St.
Paul's School in Baltimore. He will succeed Thomas E. Thompson, who has served as headmaster for eight years and notified the trustees last June that this would be his final year in the position. The new headmaster will assume his position at the end of the current academic year.

To View Nature in Winter

The Stony Brook-Millstone Watershed Association is sponsoring special winter programs for youngsters on its 540-acre nature reserve. The Watershed's reserve is an outdoor laboratory for children as well as adults. The many animals that inhabit the reserve leave tracks and trails in the snow and through the fields, Birds' nests that were hidden in the summer are now visible, while the insects that were visible through the warm weather are now hidden. Children will discover these insects in their winter hiding spots. Participants may also read some stories that animals have told through their tracks and trails.

On Monday, the Martin Luther King holiday, the Watershed will offer "Discovering Winter" for children 6 to 8 years old. This program will lest from 9:30 to noon.

On Tuesday, pre-schoolers will also have the opportunity to enjoy this program. Preschool programs, lasting be-

The owners of Lambertville Station had stopped their bldding at $1.4 million. Mr. Keller said he would have gone as high as $1.6 million to huy the closed inn, which dates back to

A history buff who collects plans antiques and New Jersey maps, he said the huilding is a "wonderful property with a great history. People who have stayed here include Andrew Johnson, Ulysses S. Grant, Robert Todd (Abraham Lincoln's son), King Edward VII, Duke Ellington, and Eleanor

Mr. Keller, who graduated from Princeton University in the early '80s, says he will pro-hably form a syndicate to purchase the hotel. He plans to spend an additional one million dollars to improve the huilding, and noted that it qualifies for a historical renovation tax credit.

Plans for the inn include reducing the number of rooms from 30 to 20, providing private bathrooms, restaring the huilding, reopening the restaurant and bar, upgrading the three retail shops on the ground floor, and renovating two outbuildings for apartments or hotel rooms. Mr. Keller is hoping, "optimistically," for a fall, 1967, opening. The ina has been closed for about the past year.
But the building, he says, does not need extensive remodelling or gutting. "It's best left the way it is; that's the beauty of it. It's a good-sized hotel and Sounding enthusiastic and pleased with his victory, Mr. Keller said it was great that his interest in old buildings is also what the market is interested in. "Or else I might be thought a little eccentric."

In the past few years, Mr. Keller has become a significant presence in the Princeton real estate market. To date, he is responsible for three major redevelopment projects in the building at Nassau and Moore Streets, the former Princeton Gourmet building at Nassau and Moore Thomas Streets, the former Princeton Thomas Streets and Balconies. The Princeton-based Central Jersey Hockey Club defeated the Princeton Hockey Club "B" team, 8-5, last week in a wellplayed Commuters League Southern Division contest at Princeton University's Baker Itink. The win kept Central Jersey undefeated at 3-0 in divisional play (6-0 overall) and dropped the Princeton Hockey Club to 0.3.

Central Jersey's next two games will be against Southern Division opponents Beacon Hill (N.J.) Hockey Club on Thursday at 8:45 p.m. and Valley Forge (Pa.) Hockey Club on Saturday at 6:45. Both games will be played at Baker Hink.

Against Princeton Hockey Club, CJ's Colie Donaldson opened the scoring with just under lour minutes played, but PHC's Peter Kerney tied the score less than a minute later. Steve Cook put Central Jersey back on top, 2-1, but again Princeton IIC tied the score at 2, with 131/2 minutes gone on a goal by Sandy Edwards. Three minutes later, John Cook, assisted by Bob Smyth, closed out the first-period scaring and put CJ ahead, 3-2.

Forty-six seconds into the second period, Donaldson tallied his second goal, and a minute later John Cook scored again to iperease Central Jersey's lead to 5-2. Six and a half minutes later, PHC's Aubrey Huston narrowed the gap to 5-3, and then, with just over two minutes remaining in the period, Huston scored again to cut CJ's lead to 5-4

After Princeton tied the score at 5 just over six minutes into the third period on a goal by John Hindle, Central Jersey went back in front 6-5 when Steve Cook scored his second goal. PHC missed a good scoring opportunity a little later when CJ goalie Eric Monberg knocked the puck off a PHC forward's stick just before he shot.

Central Jersey then took controt of the game as John Cook scored his third goal for the hat trick with just over seven minutes to play, and Art Eisdorfer scored 30 seconds later to up the score to the final 8-5. In addition to their goals, John Cook and Donaldson had four assists apiece. CJ defensemen Gib Johnson and Bob Smyth payed well, and goalkeeper Eric Monberg recorded 20 saves.

Hun Matmen Struggling After Win, Loss and Tie

Injuries and personnel problems have combined to keep the Hun School wrestling squad from jelling so far this season.

"Some kids are out of the lineup with injuries and some have kind of folded on us," confirmed Hun coach Dave Faus.

Last week, Hun ran the gamut, losing to unbeaten Dwight Englewood, 48-19, and tieing Blair Academy, 27-27, in a trimeet and earlier edging Hopewell, 33-31, on a pin in the last bout by heavyweight Niels Rec-

HOW TO KILL A TREE

with Sam DeTuro

Woodwinds Associates

We, at WOODWINDS, really don't want you to "Kill a Tree" but obviously, many tree killings are unwitting accidents. Let's examine how and why this happens. One way begins at the nursery, where healthy, strong stemmed, well rooted trees with take me home appeal are offered. Some of them may be genetically unable to endure the climate where the purchaser intends to put them. Always make sure to check the zone where the species is most

Even if the tree does not have a climatic strike against it, there are still several ways you could kill a tree with adverse conditions. For instance, pine trees will not live long planted in the shade of Maples. If you have overhead wires around, the utility man on his cherry picker will likely hack away part of it in a manner that mars its beauty and may bring on decay. Prospects are never bright for trees planted in narrow strips along sidewalks and curbs. If delivery trucks don't get them, restricted root zone will.

You can also kill a tree by planting it with its crown (where the trunk meets the root) a cozy five inches down into the soil. Many think such planting adds to the trees comfort and stability, while, in fact, it has less chance to survive. Another form is to dig the hale deeper than necessary and incorporate a huge amount of peat moss or humus as backfill. This way the tree can be planted at proper depth, but, in time the soil will settle the tree into a depression. In winter, water can collect in the basin, freeze and crust the cambium layer at the base of the tree. The true cause of such mysterious deaths may never be detected.

Don't forget to check with WOODWINDS (924-3500) about our Annual Maintenance Program for your property to bounce off cars and keep deer from bounding on the roadway were installed along a stretch of the Great Road which had been the scene of repeated deer/car collisions. This worked for while, until the number of accidents returned to its previous level. The reflectors may be moved to Quaker Road, which is level and where they may be more effective, Ms. Schneider says.

Ultrasonic whistles were installed on all police cars and on the township road repair vehicles, but it is not clear now effective they have been because the base of study is not big enough.

One resident strongly advocates deer birth control, but Ms. Schneider says this is not feasible. One method would require trapping the doe and implanting a device, which she terms "ridiculous and expensive." Another would involve putting birth control into feed, but that only works on an enclosed refuge where you can control what the deer are

"I have talked to two trap-pers," Ms. Schneider says, but trapping requires an extended period of snow coverage, which we don't have in Princeton, to force the deer into a baited trap. And it costs $250 to $500 to truck the deer away. Besides, there is no place to take them.'

Last year, quietly and without fanfare, Ms. Schneider and the deer committee instituted a program of carefully controlled bow hunting. They wrote to all Township owners of property of more than five acres, asking if they would permit bow hunting on their lands. She then matched licensed bow bunters recruited from game clubs to property owner for hunting during the state regulated fall and winter bow seasons.

In 1985-86, 58 deer were taken in these two seasons. This year, the state has extended the number of deer that a bow hunter is permited from 4 to 6 in the two zones in which Princeton lies, and extended the time period. Thus there more deer will probably be taken, but not enough in Ms. Schneider's view, to make a real dent in the size of the herd. "We have done alot of work, but still we get a bad press that we haven't done anything to 'solve' the deer problem," Ms. Schneider remarks, "I know that money won't solve it. There is nothing I can do with money, except to put out more deer warning signs.

'It is only the cooperation of the property owners that will solve this problem." Ms. Schneider would like property owners to get together to pool their property to allow hunting.

"Hunters have a very bad name," she notes. "Maybe we should call them 'game management personnel." Although it is too late to arrange more matches between reputable bow hunters and property owners for this year, she hopes that more landowners will volunteer for the program next year.

Hun is strong in the lower weights where freshman Terry Gold and junior t14-pounder Steve NcNally have enjoyed success. It is even stronger at the upper end. Rector is undefeated in six bouts, all with pins; Dave Glassberg is 6-0 in dual meets at 187 pounds with four pins and two forfeits.

Faus said later that he did not expect Dwight-Englewood to be as strong as they were. Hun started off with decision wins by Gold and McNally after forfeiting the 107-pound class but then had to wait for its next points until the 187-pound bout where Glassberg pinned in 1:26. Rector followed with a pin in 2:06.

The shocker for Hun was the pin of veteran Rob Cobun at 157 pounds. Cobun was leading Rob Carson 8-0 in the third period when he got caught in a headlock and flattened in 4:5t. "He felt badly about it; hopefully, he can learn from it," said

The tie with Blair is misleading because Blair, the national prep school champions the past seven years, sent its B and C teams against Hun and forfeited the two weights Hunhad to forfeit. Blair coach Bobby Latessa "is a pretty classy guy" said Faus.
"His goal is always to keep a match competitive and you can see by the score that's what happened. Blair," continued Faus, "can always flex their muscle whenever they choose to but Latessa always makes it competitive and he is respected for that.'

McNally, Cobun. Glassberg and Rector (the last in 40 seconds) all recorded pins and Gold won an 8-2 decision in the opening match to account for Hun's points. There were double forfeits at 114 and 121 pounds.

Alexander Leitch, 86, the secretary of Princeton University for 32 years and a senior administrative officer there for another ten years, died January II at his home in Penning-

Mr. Leitch was involved in Princeton University affairs from the time of his graduation with the Class of 1924 until his retirement in 1966, a 42-year career that represents one of the longest employment tenures in the University's history. He served under three University presidents and one acting president and for his 32 years as secretary he was one of the six efficers of the corporation known as "The Trustees of Princeton University.'

Among his other duties, Mr. Leitch was responsible for "the general correspondence of the University," had oversight of publications, and also served os the secretary of the governing board. As the University's "chief of protocal," he directed the commencement exercises for approximately 75 percent of Princeton's alumni living at the time of his retirement. Over the decades, he planned dozens of special events, including major convocations involving four presidents of the United States, Presidents Hoover, Truman, Eisenhower and Johnson. fmmediotely following his graduation Mr. Leitch served for a year as director of the bureau of appointments and student employment and then was appointed first director of the then newly created department of public information. In 1928 he was named assistant to the president and served with President John Grier Hibben, Acting President Edward Duffield (1932-33) and President Harold W. Dodds until being named secretary in 1934.

In retirement, Mr. Leitch continued to make numerous contributions to his alma mater, but among writers, historians of the University and alumni generally there is one that stands out as most signifieant and valuable. He authored Princeton Componion, published by Princeton University Press in 1978, and in this unique 560-page volume he provided a warm, often witty, and always informative reference book on Princeton University that is the most used and highly regarded history of the institution in print today.

Princeton has a new advocate and activist for the elderly.

He is Gerald Blandford, M.D., recently recruited by Princeton Medical Center to be its first coordinator of geriatric programs as well as medical director of the Merwick Unit and the Hospice Program. He has also been asked to develop a curriculum in geriatrics for the Robert Wood Johnson Medical School.

A Londooer by birth and education, Dr. Blandford comes to Princeton after seven years in Toronto, Canada, and four years each in Akron, Ohio, and Evanston, Ill. Initially trained as a rheumatologist and immunologist, he has evolved into a geriatric specialist, with considerable experience in setting up and administering clinical, educational_and research programs in aging.

In Akron, for instance, he was the director of a newly established Office of Geriatric Medicine and Gerontology at Northeastern Ohio Universities College Medicine 10 (NEUCOM) and was responsible for developing geriatric services at Akron City Hospital as chairman of the Department of Geriatric Medicine. look for clothes for the children and myself. So I've included children's as well as women's clothes in our selections. I am hoping that this concept will work, and that it will prove a real time saver for husy mothers. A clothing store is quite a departure from chemical engineering, but clothes have always been a special interest of Mrs. Renard. "I've always loved clothes," she smiles. "Even when I was a child I liked nice clotthes, and I'm very familiar with the quality of clothing. Initially, I wanted to design and make clothes, but then my sisters and I said 'Why not open a clothing store?' And I wanted to be involved in something I like. "We all do the buying," she adds, "and with five of us, of course, there is a difference of opinion. So the selection is really a composite of live different tastes."

The attractive shop features a variety of clothing with an emphasis on items for parties or dressier occasions. "There's more on the dressy side," says Mrs. Repard, "but we also carry executive-type clothing for women and sportswear. There are party dresses for girls, jackets and blazers for boys, and everyday items such as shirts and sweaters. Sizes range from infant to 16 for children and from 4 to 16 for > international Flavor, High style and elegance, as well as an international flavor (with clothes from the U.S., Spain, the Philippines, China, Hong Kong, Brazil, West Germany and Italy), highlight the dresses and outfits. There are one-of-a-kind beaded dresses and beaded tops in bright colors and designs, and dressy sweater and skirt combinations in lovely pastels. Mrs. Renard also emphasizes the importance of coordinating sportswear items to achieve a variety of looks, explaining, "You can have several outfits by buying a few items - skirt, blouse, jяcket, sweater, etc. — and coordinating them

"People are going in for dressier styles," she adds. They're still wearing oversize, but with a certain look, a style. Silk has been very popular for us. People are definitely buying it, and I will also be carrying silk for children this spring.

Spring clothes will be coming in soon, and Mrs. Renard reports that color is in. "The spring clothes we've seen so far are in lots of bright colors. As far as design, there isn't too much change. Shoulder pads are still in, and skirt lengths are long. There will be a lot of cotton, and also rayon is popular for spring.

Esperanza Renard also carries a selection of jewelry which will be expanded in the spring to include sterling silver and gold, but now consists of earrings and necklaces of turquoise, lapis, onyx, jade and mother-of-pearl

Prices cover a wide range, from $30 and up for boys' outfits and $36 and up for girls' dresses. Sweaters are $37 to $70 (mostly cotton but some wool), $50 to $70 for silk blouses, $150 for silk dresses, $70 to $130 for rayon dresses and $200 to $600 for evening wear.

Although the shop has been open only a short time, Mrs. Renard is finding her new occupation both pleasant and challenging. "Princeton is a unique place. I have always liked it," she comments, "and I've felt that when you go shopping for a specific item, and you can't find it, when all else fails, you'll find it in Princeton. The characteristics of the town are appealing.

"Also," she continues, "I have been very pleased with the reception. People are very friendly. I think they like a personalized store. I can help customers and give them attention. If a father comes in with a daughter, for example, I'll be glad to give advice. I can give personalized service.'

Mrs. Renard's emphasis on service includes extended hours. In fact, she notes, "People have mentioned that it's good to know a place to shop after office hours."

Esperanza Renard is open Tuesday and Wednesday 11 to 7:30, Thursday and Friday 11 to 9, Saturday 10 to 9 and Sunday 12 to 5.

Tigers Lose to Harvard After Beating Dartmouth

The pre-season talk about Ivy basketball stressed that it would be a wide-open race for the title this winter, with traditional powers Princeton and Penn no longer able to dominate the way they have done in

After only one weekend of play. Harvard has shown just how wide open the race will be. The only team never to capture the Ivy basketball crown since the league's beginnings in 1901, the Crimson got off to a fast start last weekend, beating both the Tigers and the Quakers on its court. That had not been expected.

Equally surprising was that both Princeton and Pena knocked off what was supposed to be a strong Dortmouth team at Hanover. That wosn't supposed to happen either

At this point, only one thing is really certain. In the topsy-turvy world of lvy baskethall these days, one weekend of play hasn't provided any real clues as to who will emerge as champion. Expect the unexpected from now on.

Harvard has yet to prove it can win on the road; Dartmouth may regroup; one of the other four Ivy teams may emerge. At this early stage, it can truly be said this is an eight-team race.

Stx of the eight lvy teams will continue the battle this weekend, while the Tigers and Penn take some time off. The Red and Blue will play non-league foes, while Princeton will stop all sports activity for semesterending exams.

The Orange and Black will not return to the hardcourt un- team, the home team wosn't mouth had 16 attempts. The Or-plays Gettysburg in Jadwin in only the third home game of the season. Two Ivy contests will follow of home against Brown and Yale on January 30 and 31.

Tiger Shooting Off. Princeton ni Gym. didn't shoot well either Friday The Ti night against Dartmouth or the following evening in Cambridge. It managed to get away with it in Itanover.

The Tigers were a sorry 17 of 44 from the field against the Big Green for 39 percent. That's usually an invitation to disaster for the Orange and Black, which rarely wins the battle under the backboards.

Fortunately for Pete Carril's til Monday, January 26, when it much better, hitting just 16 of 39 (41 percent), as both teams threw up enough bricks at the basket to huild Dartmouth's new $16.5 million John Berry Sports Center. This is the last year for the antiquated Alum-

The Tigers were also lucky to have the ball bouncing their way more often than not. Their rare edge in rebounds, 32-22, made the difference, but was due largely to balls ricocheting away from the basket on long three-point attempts.

Both teams seemed content to bomb away from beyond the 19'9 stripe. Just over half of Princeton's shots (23) came from that distance, while Dartange and Black had the edge there, too, sinking seven to the home team's two.

Princeton enjoyed a 16-7 lead late in the first half, but that was the biggest margin of the night for either team. Dartmouth closed to 18-16 by the intermission. The Big Green took the lead on two oceasions in the final 20 minutes, but a threepointer by Joe Scott with 5:44 remaining in the contest put Princeton ahead to stay, 33-32. Scott finished with 12 points, all on three-pointers.

The Tigers nursed that lead along as the clock wound down, even leading by seven, 41-34, at one point. Bob Scrabis (11 points) and Alan Williams (14) each had three-point plays in the final minutes.

During the first half against Harvard Saturday night, Princeton seemed to have regained its shooting touch, canning 63 percent of its shots. That accuracy helped the Tigers huild a 35-23 lead with just a few minutes left in the first 20 minutes.

But before the horn sounded, the Cantabs had rallied to within a basket, 36-34, and the cushion the Tigers had hoped for starting the second half had disappeared. When play began after the intermission, everything else disappeared as well for Carril's quintet.

Senior co-captain Arne Duncan, who took last year off to | research his thesis, led a Harvard charge that blew the Tigers away. The winners out-scored Princeton 19-5 during the first seven or eight minutes, and then added a 14-5 splurge after a time-out. Duncan hit three three-pointers in a row during the first stretch, and finished with a game-high 21

Princeton managed just seven baskets in the second half in 24 attempts, or 29 percent, and finished under 50 percent for the game, for the second night in a row, it also lost the rebounding battle, 27-22. Williams and Dave Orlandini led the scoring with 18 points apiece.

Harvard's final margin of victory, 78-54, was the most lopsided victory for the Crimson since a 36-8 rout in 1905. They came close to that in 1953, winning 71-49. The Cantabs are now 7-6 on the season, and have won more games than all of last year when they finished 6-20, and dead last in the league at

Tigers Take Command In Women's Basketball

The Princeton women's basketball team wasted no time showing that it would be the team to beat in the tvy basketball race this winter. The Tigers knocked off a strong Dartmouth quintet, 60-52, en Friday night in Jadwin, and defeated Harvard, 86-71, the pext evening.

The Orange and Black and Dartmouth were tied 37-37 in the second half, after battling to a 27-27 tie at intermission. But Princeton pulled away at this point to a 10-point lead, sur-vived a brief Big Green rally which cut the deficit to three. and won going away.

Tiger Hockey a Puzzle: A Brown Loss, a Yale Win

In its own perverse fashien, the Princeton hockey team left its supporters in despair and then injected them with renewed hope — all in the space gate in Baker Rink. of a little more than 24 hours over the weekend.

Playing games against Brown and Yale, the Tigers managed to blow a 4-2 lead against the 10th place Bruins Friday night and wound up losing 5-4 in overtime. In addition to owning a 2-5 ECAC mark at the time, the home team had not played in a month, and was without its captain, Steve Clime, whe had to sit out this game. The Orange and ary when it plays Brown and Black now claims fifth place in the Division with 11 points, just one point behind three teams tied for second, but only one ahead of three tied for sixth.

At this point, the playoff drama will be put on hold for two weeks while the University breaks for exams. Play will resume January 30 and 31 with games against Cornell and Col-

Eight games remain on the schedule, and when it's all over Princeton could finish anywhere from second to 10th. A worthwhile prediction is impossible; with the exception of Harvard in Cambridge, the Tigers are capable of winning or losing all the rest.

Brown Rallies for Win. Three goals in the second period propelled the Tigers into a 4-2 lead at Providence, but they couldn't held it. To its credit Brown worked hard all night, rallying to tie with a pair of goals in the third, and winning at 1:01 of overtime.

Dave Umland scored just 1:07 into the game, but the Orange and Black allowed the Bruins to tie it just nine seconds later. After that brief flurry, neither team scored again in the period. Princeton seemed to take command in the second when Jaimie MacPherson and Kelly Szautner tallied in a little more than seven minutes.

The playoff hopes, which had Brown made it 3-2 at 9:26, but freshman Kevin Sullivan's first goal restored the two-goal margin.

That came at 14:46, and closed out the scoring for the Orange and Black sextet. The Messuri-Pelaski-Blaeser line was held to just one assist. The home team kept pressing, fercing a shaky Princeton defense into errors, and eventually won the centest.

Improvement in New Haven. The defense improved the next night, and the "suburhan snipers" line got back on track with three goals and three assists, as Higgins' skaters made a 4-2 lead stand up.

Five of the seven goals in the contest were scored in a busy first period. Greg Polaski's power play goal at 8:27 get things going. Yale answered at 11:32, but Szautner made it 2-, assisted by Sourges and Umland. The Elis forced another tie less than a minute later, and Polaski came back with his second, assisted by John Messuri and Bart Blaeser to close out the first period scoring at 17:37.

Messuri scored the only goal of the second period on a power play at 14:18, assisted by Howe and Polaski. The Bulldogs pulled to within a goal, 4-3, at 17:21. scoring with a man advantage, and pulled their goalie with just over a minute left. ### PHS Five Wins, Loses At Hightstown; Hun Next to form last week. In walloping Montgomery 84-55 Friday, the Little Tigers ran up their blggest score of the season. But three days earlier they had yielded their most points of the season in an 83-66 loss to McCorristin. The aplit left the Blue and White with a 4-3 record.

The up and down Princeton High basketball team was true

In a busy week ahead, PHS will be at Hightstown Friday evening for a Valley Division league contest and the next evening it will oppose town rival Ilun School as the Itaidera celcbrate homecoming. Tap-off

Tuesday afternoon, the Little Tigers will travel to Notre Dame for a 3:45 contest.

From the opening hasket hy Princeton's John Thompson it was evident that the toothless Montgomery Cougars were going to have little to celebrate in their homecoming game. PHS coach Doug Snyder was able to use every player on his 12-man squad, as the visiting Little Tigers were never pressed and sent the home team down to its sixth defeat in seven outings.

Thompson, a junior who had the most playing time, led PIIS with 18 points — his best effort of the season. The team's other junior, Darius Young, added 14. ABOVE IT ALL: Princeton High's Pat McKellar, surrounded by four Montgomery High players, is head and ahouldars - as well as torso and thigh - above them all, as he goes up for a rebound in Friday's 84-55 win. At right is teammate Darius Young.

Can't Hold Lead. To upset unbeaten McCorristin, which had been averaging in the 80s in winning its first six, Snyder felt the Little Tigers had to hold the quicker Iron Mikes in the 60s. PHS started out like it was going to do just that, surprising the home team with an early 9-2 lead. "We had a good first quarter," said Sayder.

In the second period, PHS surrendered 28 points, as McCorristin pulled away to a 46-34 halftime lead. But the Little Tigers, who drew praisc from Snyder for not giving up praise certainly earned fought back to 68-63 with 2:16 left. "Our press was clicking," recalled Snyder.

Princeton just might ... but no. The Iron Mikes scored 11 consecutive points on 1-and-1 situations. "It wasn't inten-tional at that point," sighed Snyder. "Their superior lickness just got them some fouls."

As Sayder pointed out, the game was marred by fouls, 30 against PHS, 25 against McCorristin. The victors converted 31 of 46 attempts while PHS was 20 of 34. PHS lost the battle of field goals by a scant 26 to 23.

Riddick had his best offensive performance of the season in canning 19 points for PHS. Paris added 15 and Thompson 12. Darius Young and Corey Allen each contributed eight Stan Tucker connected on 20 points for the Iron Mikes and teammates Gerald Posey and Rahsheem Livingston added 19 each to pace the victors' balanced attack.

PHS Stops Lawrence High But Not Its Star Scorer

No, like everyone else, the

Princeton High basketball team was unable to stop Lawrence High's Chuck McKay, the leading scorer in the Colonial Valley Conference this season

But, yes, the Little Tigers did shut down the rest of the Cardinals and countered with a halanced attack Monday that produced a highly satisfying, 73-64 league win - Princeton's fifth in eight games.

McKay, the 6-3 junior who averaged 19.4 points for Lawrence last year, poured in 35 points, but the only other teammate to score more than six points was guard Derick Seay, who connected for 14.

PHS, in winning its second straight, placed four men in double figures for the first time this season.

Is Paris burning? He was Monday night as Peter Paris ripped the nets for 26 points to lead the list of Princeton scorers. John Thompson followed up his fine game against Montgomery with 11 points while Mike Hiddick and Corey Allen contributed 10 each. Pat McKeller added eight more.

Afer taking a 22-14 lead at the end of the first period, PHS allowed the visiting Cardinals to narrow the margin to one at the half, 33-32. But the victors' overall depth was too much for the Cardinals in the second

The loss was Lawrence's fourth against three wins.
